Move over cupcakes...brownies have arrived in Beverly Hills and they're here to stay.

About two years ago the idea for Beverly Hills Brownie Company was developed by founder Bobbie Greenfield. Back then the business was only online. But with the growth of the brand and demand for her brownies on the rise, Greenfield decided to open her flagship store at 315 N. Beverly Drive a few months ago.

Walk into the shop and your nose is greeted with the sweet scent of freshly-baked brownies. There are 14 different brownie flavors to choose from, with availability depending on the day of the week and season:

- Classic Walnut
- Red Velvet
- Chocolate Chip Mint
- Caramel Blondie
- Simply Classic
- Cream Cheese Chocolate Chip
- Pure Platinum
- Peanut Brittle
- Poppy Seed
- Mocha Latte
- Platinum Almond
- Ginger Bread
- Pumpkin Cream Cheese (November only)
- Pumpkin Chocolate Chip (November only)

Brownies cost $3.25 each or $36/dozen. Petite brownies cost $2 each or $24/dozen. Items can be gift wrapped and shipped at an additional cost. Local delivery is available.

"All of our brownies contain flour, sugar, eggs, butter and other dairy products. None of our brownies contain preservatives or trans fats," according to the Beverly Hills Brownie Company website. "Currently, Beverly Hills Brownie Company does not have any gluten-free or sugar-free products, but recipes are in development and we plan to introduce them in the near future."

Beverly Hills Brownie Company's treats are baked fresh daily. If you can't eat your brownies the day you get them, the company recommends storing them in an airtight container or plastic bag at room temperature for up to a week. You can also refrigerate them for up to two weeks or freeze them for up to six months—just be sure to use airtight containers or airtight plastic bags.

The brownies are also made with kosher products. Though the bakery does not have official kosher certification, it plans to obtain it.
