Beverly Hills Brownie Company

For the last three years, Bobbie's delicious and unique brownie selection has been available online, and they still ship anywhere in the world. Just this past spring, Beverly Hills Brownie Company opened their first storefront on Beverly Drive, and the response has been great.

While I contemplated my brownie options and was finally settling on the amazing-looking Peanut Brittle Brownie, a lady walked into the shop. "Go ahead," I said magnanimously. She proceeded to order one Peanut Brittle Brownie "for now," and four "for later," while telling me how she had walked by the night before and picked one up. She and her husband had been so impressed she was sent back on a brownie-securing mission. The mission was successful...she secured the very last of the Brittle Brownies, and I'm left still thinking about them.

The "About Us" section of their website is written by the brownies wherein they refer to Beverly Hills Brownie Company founder, Bobbie Greenfield, as mom. And they're definitely her babies. She created each and every recipe for their fourteen varieties of brownies, and when I asked her which she would have me try, Bobbie looked at me as though I'd asked her to choose a favorite child and commenced to point out the unique and delicious features of each type. That's a good mother.

Not all of their flavors are available all the time. Check their web site for a complete list of the "anytime" vs. "special guest flavors" and give them a call to see if your favorites are in.
